Jack Feldman will be doing a presentation on Zoom of the History of Water in Early Los Angeles.

Jack Feldman is currently on the executive Board of Water and Power Associates (W&PA), which is an organization dedicated to educating the Public, Politicians, and Media on water and energy issues affecting Southern California. Its secondary mission is to preserve the regional history of water and electricity and show its role in the development and growth of Los Angeles.

Jack worked at the LA Department of Water and Power for over 35 years where he retired in 2006 as Senior Manager in charge of the Power Engineering Organization. Over the last 12 years Jack was responsible for putting together the W&PA website and virtual museum (<https://waterandpower.org/museum/museum.html>). The museum is the largest of its kind, consisting of over 20,000 images, including background information related to the history of Los Angeles and Southern California.
